Dear Reader,

I am writing to recommend Aymane Hanine. He worked with me at IRIS by Argon & Co, as a Junior Data Scientist during his internship and reported to me in my position as team manager.

As an employee, Aymane is an excellent example of a motivated, structured, organized, and curious person, willing to learn and adapt to every challenge required.

Aymane has an excellent level of Data Science and Machine learning knowledge, especially for an intern / junior and has evolved a lot during the 6-month period that we spent together.

He worked with me in a 6-month project for a leader pen constructor company. His level of commitment and dedication was way above average, as well as his capacity to communicate both internally and with the client, in order to better understand and resolve each task.

Last but not least, what differentiates Aymane compared to other interns and junior profiles, is his maturity and positive spirit, which was a key element to the success of this project and to client's satisfaction at the end of it.

Feel free to contact by email or telephone, if you require more information about Aymane's experience at Argon & Co.

Sincerely,
Mickail Voyiatzis
